MONDAY, MAY 25, 1885. THE WATER QUESTION.

If the Potomac water shall be proved to be bad by the very thorough examination to which it is now being subjected (and accomplete tests up to this time nive no evidence whatever of its being impure), the Commissioners are at least censurable and should be held responsible for a too tardy conception of the situation

If, on the other hand, the water is proven by complete analysis to be as pure as ever, maintaining its high comparative rank with that supplied to other cities of the United States, then the parties who have contended otherwise and have by highly sensational articles not only inflicted unnecessary alarm upon this community, but have aided in spreading false reports over the whole country that the Washington water supply was unhealthy, and hence this city a place rather to be shunned than resorted to, such persons should be confounded by their too hasty criticisms and unwarranted assump

The Commissioners are as much bound to resist unfounded and injurious reports alarming to the public and greatly prejudicial to the future prosperity of Washing ton as they are to be sensitively vigilant in guarding against any danger to the public health. As far as they are aware, no sanitary authority whatever has indicated that there is the slightest apprehension in that regard.

ABOUT ANARCHISTS.

Yesterday was a red-letter day for the Anarchists. In Paris they disturbed the peace and were attacked unmercifully by the guards, resulting in the death of five persons and the wounding of eighty. In Chicago an Anarchist speaker de nounced Abraham Lincoln and was forced from the platform by a mob.

In Cincinnati the honest workingmen assembled and solemnly declared that hereafter no red flag should be permitted in their processions, and that all participation in labor discussions should be prohibited to socialists.

Justus Schwab, on trial in New York for inciting a mob to resist the police, as serted that Socialists were opposed to all forms of government, and that they intended to secure a return to the primitive state of man. It is impossible to determine Mr. Schwab's precise meaning, but he and his followers will learn that the only primitive state of man which includes no government and no law is the monkey state. The farther Mr. Schwab goes into antiquity the more law he will unearth. Adam and Eve were banished from the Garden of Eden for violating the fruit law: Cain was made a wanderer and an exile for committing a murder. The Jews were visited with death for picking up sticks on the Sabbath day. If Schwab and his followers expect to dig up antiqnity to palliate their lawlessness, they will run up against Mt. Sinai and be ground to pieces in the dark ages.

Honest workingmen are sincerely glad that there is at least enough law in this free country to gather in Schwab and his Anarchists, and that so long as the poorest man may own property, such cattle as Schwab are liable to be arrested as common vagrants. If there be times when workingmen have wrongs to be righted, they know their remedy, and it is not by the door of Socialism. They know that Anarchists and Socialists are only restrained from their real purposes by a stringent law against grand larceny.

NEW DEFINITIONS.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Hav has signalized his induction into the active duties of his office by tackling the question of offensive partisanship, and we are indebted to him for an entirely new view of the situation.

Mr. Hay is reported as saying that an offensive partisan, so far as the postoffices are concerned, is "a postmaster who makes his postoffice the headquarters of loafers to congregate, and in other ways offends the people who call for their mail." This cheerful definition seizes upon all former views like a cyclone, and carries it bodily into another universe. And Mr. Hay emphasizes his iconoclasm by adding that "postmasters who left their offices to attend political meetings and participate in campaigns to the extent of neglecting their duties cannot, properly speaking, be called offensive partisans, but merit dismissal just the same.'

Why has Mr. Hay persistently withheld this information, when he might long since have saved the partisan newspapers from anarchy and self-destruction by giving forth his plain, straightforward views? But now that he has spoken, at a moment when truth was most desirable, the startling character of his facts should not be permitted to ontweigh or overcloud the truth that Republican postmasters will be bounced in both languages. It will make little difference to them whether an offensive partisan is a postmaster who permits loafers to congregate in his office, or whether a postmaster who attends politieal meetings, to the neglect of his duty, is not, properly speaking, an offensive partisan. The conclusion arrived at by Mr. Hay is the familiar one that the Republican postmaster must go.

COLD FACTS.

The Norsemen must certainly have had n high old carnival last winter. At any rate they managed to get a deal of chilly water into the refrigerator, and while they indulged in the giddy dissipations of whale-fat, their stupendous ice-houses floated away toward the Tropic of Cancer. Ever since Belshazzar's feast, men have been punished for not attending strictly to business, and if we have an international treaty with Iceland it should be invoked to save our transatlantic passengers from the cold chills that play hide and seek on their spinal column as they encounter the great icebergs in the path to the deep-a collision that would have sent the Berlin spinning down toward the port of the Octopus had she not been ironribbed and lined with steel. As it was, her fore rigging and upper cabins were fearfully smashed, and, in the language of the landsman, she "walked away on her uppers."

Queenstown. Captain Land of the steamship Berlin reports a frightful collision between his reports a frightful collision between his -Hon. Lawrence I. Neal of Chillicothe, Ohio, vessel and one of these hoary monsters of arrived at the Ebbitt Sunday dis at 3.2

We naturally dislike to bring a charge of offensive partisanship against the Esquimaux, but we may venture to suggest that Iceland is sorely in need of civil-service reform, A government that has been continuously and uninterruptedly in power for 1,009 years is well calculated grow giddy and reckless in some repeets, and there ought to be some rule of international comity that will prevent this fusilade of giant icicles against the sunlit waters of the southern sea.

In the meantime we cannot do better han suggest the appointment of Charles Francis Adams to act in the congenial capacity of Ambassador to Iceland.

The icebergs must go.

SPAIN may have her little eccentricities in the shape of cholera and garlie and twanging guitars, but when it comes right down to the science of government there are times when the United States of America might sit at her feet as to another Gamaliel. The Spanish Government has presented to the Cortes a bill authorizing the Spanish Admiralty to expend something over $5,000,000 annually for a period of ten years in the construction of firstclass iron-clads, eight cruisers of the firstclass, seven cruisers of the second-class, forty cruisers of the third-class, thirty gunboats and sixty-five torpedo boats. Ten years from now the United States should have its apologies ready in the shape of

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GARLAND informs Postmaster-General Vilas that the seventyfive Indians now acting as postmasters in the Territory are ineligible to office by reason of their inability to take the remired oath while holding tribal relations. Between Mr. Hay's ruling that an offensive partisan is a postmaster who permits loafers to congregate in his office, and this opinion of the Attorney-General, the goneness of the Indian postmaster is about the most inevitable thing extant.

A LADY so well indorsed by veterans of both armies as Mrs. Mary Long for the postoffice at Charlottesville, Va., no doubt deserves her reappointment. The story that she is an offensive partisan and a capitalist withal, who thinks nothing of buying up votes for General Mahone by the hundred at a time, must have been manufactured at the same shop where the Potomac River yarns are spun.

THE New York Graphic of yesterday devoted a page to illustrating the handsome faces of some of the Washington press correspondents. The Critic will present some instantaneous sketches by its own artist in a few days which will present some of the boys in their native and more elongated grandeur.

A Republican reporter has discovered. in close proximity to the Potomac, "two or three acres of a rich, mucky sediment.' This is truly awful! Next thing he will be finding "paleozoic fossilicants" amid the cosmic dankness of the Maryland bottoms. Then we are gone !

Our neighbor of the Republican has "got em agin." The very sight of water develops the hydrophobia in some persons. SECRETARY MANNING Worshiped yester-

Bogus Bridal Millions.

One of the delights of a bridal trip to Washington has always been the custom vaults to hand to each bride who entered it a package containing $5,000,000. The were allowed to hold it for a second. was then carefully taken from them and put away. It has also been generally understood among the knowing ones that this $5,000,000 package, which has been the bridal portion temporarily of so many brides did not contain much money, but brides, did not contain much money; but it was never ascertained exactly what was in the package until a few days ago, when the count of the treasure in the vault was ommenced. It was found that this five ullion package, which has been so fondly million package, which has been so fondly handled and over which so many endearing words have been said, was simply a huge joke, containing three or four heavy old Government documents, such as would sell in a junk-shop for two cents per pound. The package weighed fifteen pounds, and, as old paper, its value would be thirty cents. The package was carefully tied up again, and it will continue to be used to make brides happy. It will suit them just as well as if it contained real money.—[Boston Traveller.

At Old Point Comfort.

At Old Point Comfort.

It is related of Professor Odlum, says a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing from Old Point Comfort, that when he had charge of the bath-houses there he used to muuse himself by jumping overboard from a steamboat halfway between Norfolk and Old Point and swimming back to the bath-houses, a distance of about seven miles. His longest swim while here was to Ocean View, which is ten miles from Old Point. On one occasion a party of young men out boating sion a party of young men out boating saw him in the water and pulled him on board of their vessel. "I'm very much obliged to you, gentlemen, for your good intentions," said Odlum, "but as I'm in a hurry I'll have to leave you." And to the amazement of the boating party he plunged into the water again and reached Old Point far in advance of them. Odlum was popular with all who knew him. In-timate acquaintances say he was not a crank, but level-headed, cool, courageous and good-hearted.

Right You Are.

Right You Are.

We take it that there is more said about Senator Blackburn's break with the Administration than the real facts warrant. The Senator ought to feel that To disagree with the Administration on miner points is not only proper, but creditable, for that is one of the cardinal principles of every citizen of this country; but to break with it, and attempt to injure its usefulness because a friend—though he even be a brether—does not receive the desired recognition, is ignoble and far beneath the dignity of a Senator of the United States.—[Manchester, N. H., Union.

The Fair Thing by Mr. Lothrop. In these days of rancorous party squabbling it is pleasant to reflect that partisanship does not always blunt the sense of justice and fair play. The Republicans of the Michigan Legis-lature have done a manly and honorable thing in confuting and resenting the libel on Minister Lethrop's character.—[New York Graphic.

Apt at Figures. Young Featherly (to hostess)—"You have children, have you not, Mrs. B."

Mrs. B.—"Oh, yes. I have a boy seven years old and nithitle girl of five."

Young Featherly (astounded)—"I declare, how time files! It doesn't seem possible that you have been married twelve years.—[N. Y. Sun.

The Economical Spartans. When Philip of Macedon wrote to the Spartan ephors: "If I enter Laconia I will leve Lacedæmon to the ground," he received to answer the single but insignificant word "If." Telegraph rates between Macedon and Lacedæmon must have been unusually high.—Courier-Journal.

What to do With the Dolphin. We do not believe the Dolphin is seaworthy. John Roach ought to send her out to Illinois to cruise up and down the Hennepla Canal and keep the musquashes out of the tomato vines.—[Chicago News,

Mrs. Burnett's New Book.

A Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says: Mrs. Burnett, after a long rest, is at work again. It is a most charming serial for St. Nicholas, a story for children, which will just as keenly interest older heads, and which, it is safe to predict, will be her greatest success since "That Lass o' Lowric's." Its pathetic touches are deep and tender, and so mingled with a bright humor that it is a wonderful story, and the twoor three friends who have heard all or bits of it read aloud by Mrs. Burnett, have heard with rapt interest, hardly knowing whether to laugh or cry.
